

Hello!

I want to request the board members of OT that please look for functional English rather than fluent English score, because what I believe is one learns language by being & interacting with the people of that country instead sitting in one's own country where English is not the first language .Having said this its difficult to get 7 in academic IELTS or just the other way round. Is is not difficult for English speakers to learn other foreign language or are all English speakers can score 7 in all four module the answer is NO. Yes all can speak English but all cannot score 7 in academic as these are two different things, that's why am requesting board to drop this idea of English score & go for well qualified OTst from wfot recognised school. Hoping that this suggestion will be welcomed by the OT board.

Kind Regards
